BUSINESS DONE IN DUNKIRK BETWEEN SHELLS

GERMANS DROP BOMBS WITH REGULARITY INTO BE-SIEGED CITY

Dunkirk, France, Aug. 9.—The bombardment of Dunkirk by the giant German gun operating from Flanders permits the carrying on of the business of the city only four and a half minutes out of every five.

There is only one gun being used in this bombardment and the shells come regularly every five minutes. The people of the town take advantage of the interval between an explosion and the coming of another shell to transact business, allowing themselves about half a minute to make for their cellars.

In the general postoffice for instance, four and a half minutes after the explosion of the shell is heard the clerks and customers at the stamp and money order windows and applicants for mail disappear together for the basement. After the expected shell

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder is troubling you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

explodes they come up stairs again and business goes on as usual until it is time to run again to safety.

Death of Aged Woman Recalls Big Disaster

Special to Daily Leader.

Orlando, Okla., Aug. 8.—The Sultana disaster on the Mississippi river near Memphis in 1865, when only 600 of the 2,300 passengers on the steamer were saved, is recalled through the announcement of the death of Mrs. Martha M. Tubbs, aged 79, at her home near Orlando. She was the widow of Hiram Tubbs, one of the Sultana survivors and the mother of two well known Oklahoma newspaper men—Harvey C. Olds and Walter Olds, formerly of Guthrie, now of Tulsa.

The Sultana disaster followed immediately the closing of the Civil war. The steamer carried 1,800 ex-prisoners of war who had been held for some time by the Confederates in a parole camp at Vicksburg, also about five hundred other passengers, or a total of approximately 2,300. On the morning after leaving Vicksburg and when about ten miles above Memphis, the steamer's boiler exploded.

Hiram Tubbs was a member of the Second Michigan cavalry and had enlisted in November, 1862. Two years later, while on detail to get water for his company, he was taken prisoner by the Confederates, and held until the close of the war, being imprisoned successively at Vicksburg, Meridian, Cahaba, Ala., and Vicksburg. He was a native of Genesee county, New York, and when the Civil war started he was a resident of Gratiot county, Mich.

When the Sultana boiler exploded Hiram Tubbs, like a big majority of the others on board, was asleep. He ran along the deck until he found a fender strapped to the side of the boat. He cut this loose with his pocket knife and jumped overboard. He was unable to swim but managed to hold to the fender and keep afloat. All about him the water was covered with his drowning companions. Although the fender was his only means of believed, Tubbs offered assistance and took two other soldiers on the fender with him. He cautioned them to be as quiet as possible, believing if they might all be saved. They drifted for about three hours and then managed to get hold of the top of a tree that had fallen into the river, near an island called "The Old Hen and the Chickens," near Memphis. The water was full of floating ice, the Mississippi being at its highest in many years. Tubbs and his two companions were finally discovered in the tree top by a man on the Arkansas side of the river. He went to them in a canoe, rescued them and had them taken to a hospital in Memphis. Two days later Tubbs went to Cairo, Ill., and on July 4 was mustered out at Detroit, Mich. The two men whom he rescued were members of an Indiana regiment.

It was twenty years after the Sultana disaster that Hiram Tubbs was married in Gratiot county to Mrs. Martha M. Olds. He was an extensive landowner in Michigan, but when the Cherokee strip country of Oklahoma was opened to settlement in 1893 they became settlers in Noble county, near Orlando, and lived there during the remainder of their lives. Mr. Tubbs died in February, 1913.

Sunday School Workers.

Among the people of northern Oklahoma, Mr. and Mrs. Tubbs were known particularly as Sunday school organizers and workers. They had become active church workers more than a half century before coming to Oklahoma and were identified with Sunday school work in Michigan for a number of years. Among the early settlers in the Cherokee strip, they became active immediately and there are a number of church and Sunday school organizations in the Orlando district that owe their existence today to these two people.

Mrs. Tubbs had the distinction in fact, of being the oldest Sunday school enthusiast in the entire state. For eight years after she was 70 years old she was superintendent of two Sunday schools, one in Orlando and the other in the country near that town. The city school was held in the morning, the country school in the afternoon, and it was very seldom that she missed either of them during the eight-year period. She had been an active church member for sixty-five years. Mrs. Tubbs was a native of Canada, born in 1835.

RUSSIANS HAVE DESTROYED 800 TURKISH SHIPS

SULTAN'S CRAFT HAS BEEN ALMOST ANNIHILATED BY BLACK SEA FLOTILLA

London, Aug. 9.—A significant phase of the near eastern operations which has passed almost unnoticed is revealed in the announcement from Petrograd of the destruction of almost 800 Turkish craft in the Black Sea by a Russian torpedo boat flotilla.

More than 800 of these vessels were sailing ships which had been built to carry supplies from the Anatolian coast. The persistence of the Turks in building these ships despite their continued destruction is accepted here as meaning that Constantinople is in desperate need of supplies.

The British board of trade report for July shows that sixty-two British steamers and sailing craft were sunk by the Germans during the month with a loss of sixty-three lives while four steamers and nineteen lives were lost by mines.

Comparative quiet prevails on the western front and in the minor battle fields.

WHAT TO DO FOR ITCHING SKINS

Eczema, ringworm and other itching, burning skin eruptions and so easily made worse by improper treatment, that one has to be very careful. There is one method, however, that you need not hesitate to use, even on a baby's tender skin—that is, the Resinol treatment. Resinol is the prescription of a Baltimore doctor, put up in the form of Resinol ointment and Resinol soap. This proved so remarkably successful, that thousands of other physicians have prescribed it constantly for 20 years.

Resinol stops itching instantly, and almost always heals the eruptions quickly and at little cost. Resinol ointment and Resinol soap can be bought at any druggist's and are not at all expensive. Write for free pamphlet, Dept. 22-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.
